COURT OF APPEAL FOR ONTARIO

CITATION: R. v. F.E.D., 2012 ONCA 800

DATE: 20121119

DOCKET: C50843

Goudge, Sharpe and Gillese JJ.A.

BETWEEN

Her Majesty the Queen

Respondent

and

F.E.D.

Appellant

C. Anik Morrow, for the appellant

Deborah Krick, for the respondent

Heard: November 15, 2012

On appeal from the sentence imposed on February 20, 2009 by Justice Ratushny of the Superior Court of Justice, sitting without a jury.

APPEAL BOOK ENDORSEMENT

[1] In our view the trial judge did not decide that the predicate offence automatically constituted a serious personal injury offence.

[2] Moreover, there was ample evidence on which the trial judge could properly conclude that these facts constituted conduct likely to inflict severe psychological damage and which did in fact inflict such damage.

[3] There is no reason to interfere with that finding or with the subsequent conclusion that there was no basis for a long term offender designation and that a dangerous offender designation was necessary.

[4] The appeal is dismissed.
